Met Office Aberdeen Meteorologist's View
Friday may well be the last widely fine day for a few days at least.

Forecast for Saturday 03 Oct 2020
Weather: After a dry start widespread rain will develop through the morning, this then setting in for the rest of the day. Rain will be heavy at times in the east, perhaps with some local flooding on access roads later in the day. Burns in the east likely to be in flood too.

Maximum wind: Northeasterly gusts to 25 mph across the far north of the region

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: Despite a promising start around dawn, low cloud will soon become extensive between 400 and 700 metres, the lowest bases across the east.

Visibility: Becoming poor in the east, and rather hazy at best elsewhere.

Temperature: Glens: Plus 2 rising to 12 Celsius
At 800m: Plus 8 Celsius
Freezing level: Above summits
